Law Change On Animals Sought

A shaggy problem which has been dogging the city of Daly City since 1933 might be solved Nov. 13 when the council considers a change in its laws regarding the number of animals a resident may keep on his premises.

At the present time, the law states a Daly City resident may keep 25 animals on his property, whether they be horses, mice, dogs, zebras or buggy-eyed wombats.

Councilmen, bugged somewhat by the flood of complaints against residents who keep large numbers of dogs that bark, have decided to consider a change in the law which was enacted in 1933.

Impetus toward this was started Monday by residents near by 275 Alexander avenue, who complained against 19 dogs and many puppies in a small enclosure.

City attorney Paul Hupf has urged a change in the law to limit the number of animals.

The city presently has a contract with San Mateo County for pound service. Dog license fees are turned over to county authorities as a consideration for this service.

In a letter to the city council Eugene Mason Howell, public health engineer, cited some of the problems he encounters in animal complaints in Daly City:

"In the past, this department has attempted to have premises that are unsanitary due to dog droppings, abated, but have found that due to the unrealistic ordinance existing in the city of Daly City, whereby it permits the keeping of 25 dogs on the premises, that it is practically impossible to maintain a premise without the creation of definite odors where a large number of dogs are permitted to roam that premise.

"With the present ordinance existing in the city of Daly City permitting dogs, it would require a minimum of two inspections per day to attempt to enforce and maintain suitable sanitary standards thereon."

LAST ONE TO GO — Battalion Chief Mel Hanson (right) of Daly City fire department watches flames devour last building on site of proposed

Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City. Grading was slated to get underway on the 11-acre site on a hilltop west of Junipero Serra boulevard and south of Westmoor. The fire department had destroyed several buildings on the site in preparation for the hospital groundbreaking.

New Assessment District Asked

A street building program has been proposed in a 10-square block unincorporated area adjoining Daly City.

The San Mateo County board of supervisors has suggested formation of a special assessment district for the area bounded by Pierce street on the south, Ninety-second street on the north, Junipero Serra boulevard on the east and Broadmoor Village on the west. It includes the home of former supervisor Thomas J. Callan.

The project was suggested by Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald who noted that some property owners and Broadmoor property owners and the Broadmoor police department have urged that sidewalks be built in the area.

Fitzgerald said the improvements would tie in with the 90th street assessment district improvements, now underway.

Grading Begins For Mary's Help Hospital

Grading operations for construction of the new 250-bed Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City were slated to begin this week.

Sister Administrator Hermine said the joint commission on accreditation of hospitals has approved the recommendation that the present Mary's Help Hospital on Guerrero street in San Francisco be fully accredited during the period required to build the new $8,000,000 facility.

According to Sister Hermine, the present Mission district landmark at 145 Guerrero street, which has been a haven of medical mercy to all races, creeds and colors, without regard to financial status since the earthquake and fire of 1906, will be evacuated in the spring of 1965 for its new, up-to-date facility located on a beautiful 11-acre hilltop in Daly City. The new site centers an area declared to be the No. 1 priority section of northern California in need of hospital and nursing facilities.

"Your hospital is entitled to a certificate of accreditation," said the joint commission's letter, signed by Kenneth B. Babcock, M.D., who added: "The commission wishes to commend you for maintaining standards deserving of accreditation, and for your constant effort to improve the quality of patient care. Please be assured of our interest and of our willingness to be of all possible help to you."

Under the sub-title of "Recommendations and Comments," Dr. Babcock had this to say: "The present well-advanced plan for reestablishing and enlarging the hospital with the new construction in a new area is commended. It is to be hoped that this forward looking project can be expedited as rapidly as possible... the administration and the professional staffs are encouraged to continue their efforts to support good standards in all phases of hospital operation and patient care."

The Accreditation Joint Commission, a national organization, is composed of the following medical groups: American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association. It represents the highest commendation any hospital could receive.

Under present plans ground breaking for the new Mary's Help Hospital is scheduled for April of next year.

Mary's Help Hospital has been at its present location in San Francisco's Mission District for more than half a century. Under recent amendments to the State Hospital Licensing Code, the Sisters faced the necessity of spending huge amounts to modernize and expand their facilities at the present site or to seek a new location.

Residents Query Officials On Shelters, Protection

Daly City officials, spurred on by the current crisis in Cuba which brings the threat of nuclear war, have gathered information on what local residents should now about Civil Defense.

Hundreds of questions on survival have been flooding city hall. Some of the answers are not especially hopeful; yet William Hawley, assistant city administrator, who serves as deputy director of Civil Defense, felt the following questions should be answered.

Some Questions Often Asked About Civil Defense

1—Where is the nearest fallout shelter in Daly City?

There are no public shelters in the city. In early 1962, the federal government sponsored an extensive survey of buildings that would qualify as fallout shelters. The survey showed that not one building met the minimum standards. Information concerning fallout shelters in other cities is not available. Those cities must be queried directly.

2—Will my home provide protection?

We recommend that people use their homes for fallout protection if they have no better alternative. The best place for protection varies with the house. Generally, a car in the garage will provide shelter. A room with no windows or a room that is surrounded by other rooms provides shelter.

In the event of disaster, windows should be covered with heavy material such as blankets. Garages which are dug into a hillside also provide some protection. In general, the idea is to get as much bulk as possible between you and fallout. The point is — some protection is better than none. You can survive fallout in many situations.

3—Can I survive the blast?

This depends on the size and location and nature of the blast and your protection at the time of the blast. Some authorities estimate that from 75 to 90 per cent of the people of Daly City might survive a 20 megaton nuclear bomb exploded over Treasure Island. In short, it is your responsibility to make provisions to protect yourself. It's not hopeless!

4—What about my children at school?

The elementary school district plans call for holding children at the school in the event of a probable attack. Parents may pick up children at the schools. Whether an effort should be made to pick children up depends on distance from school and probable time of attack. More specific answers to this question depends on a number of variables and cannot be answered here.

5—Should I evacuate?

A few years ago evacuation was the plan of action but authorities now discourage it. If you have a definite place to go and time (at least two to four hours) permits, you may evacuate to the south. In event of an emergency, all major thoroughfares will be one-way south. If you have no place to go, or if you have some protection here, or if time is short you are safest in your home.

6—How can I find out what is happening?

Tune your radio to 640 or 1240 on the dial. You should have a transistor or battery operated radio with extra batteries for use in emergencies.

7—What are the warning signals?

When attack is imminent, the air horns will blow 30 quick, short blasts and will repeat this pattern at regular intervals. If attack is probable, i.e. at least 30 minutes away, the air horns will sound 30 long blasts. Do not be confused by Civil Defense literature that states that the warning will be sounded by sirens. This is true in San Francisco and in many other places, but not Daly City. Our air horns give comprehensive coverage of Daly City, but be alert for the warning signals.

8—What basic survival items should I stock?

13 Hurt In Foundry Explosion

Thirteen employees were injured at about 8:30 a. m. Monday morning when a series of explosions occurred at the Superior Electrocast Foundry at 150 Harbor Way in South San Francisco.

Most seriously hurt was Jack Williams, 26, of 491 Fourth street, San Francisco, a helper, who suffered extreme burns on his body, arms and legs.

The blasts, which tore off the walls and roofs of the building, apparently were caused by leakage of natural gas into the lower parts of the building, including the pit where metal is melted.

Foreman U. Prior said the explosion was possibly caused when hard steel poured into the molds caused an overspill which hit the moisture in the area and ignited.

The following were injured: William Thomas Kiley, 51, 638 Green avenue, San Bruno, molding foreman, burned right leg and back and transferred to St. Luke's hospital; Edward R. Soper, Sunnyvale, crane operator, burns on face and neck, treated and released; Donald A. Peterson, 560 Fourth Lane, South San Francisco, molder, cut on knee, treated and released; Pedro Jimenez, 222 Juniper avenue, South San Francisco, molder's helper, (Continued on Page 2)

Fatal Crash On Foggy Skyline

An 83-year-old Portola Valley woman died as the result of a two-car auto crash on Skyline boulevard at 10 a. m. Monday north of Manor drive.

Taken to Sequoia Hospital, Palo Alto where she died of her injuries, was Blanche Schrier, 83, of 501 Portola, Portola Valley. Lloyd B. Ward, 17, of 589 Inverness drive, Pacifica, was treated at Junipero Hospital for head, possible broken leg and arm injuries.

Highway Patrolman Marshall Oldham reported the woman was headed northbound, crossed a single line on a curve and struck Ward's vehicle almost head-on. Foggy conditions contributed to the accident, police said.

Round 2 Polio Vaccine Sunday

Round two KO Polio Day will be held this Sunday, Nov. 4 at 13 stations in the north county when Sabin Type II oral polio vaccine will be offered to the 170,000 residents.

Clinics will be open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Type II will protect your life against an entirely different kind of polio virus than Type I.

The fact that there has been little Type II polio in California in recent years emphasizes that citizens are extremely vulnerable today. Sooner or later, we can immunize a great majority of our people against it now.

Type II Sabin vaccine has been thoroughly tested throughout the world. Nearly 300,000,000 persons of all ages have taken it, including millions of Americans. It has been licensed and given absolute approval by the U. S. Public Health Service and the California State Department of Health and county health officers.

You get Type II vaccine the same way you got Type I. It will be given at the same neighborhood vaccine stations that operated on September 23. You and your family can go to the same one you went to then, and get your three Sabin drops on a lump of sugar very quickly without waiting in line.

Doctors urge all citizens must take the Sabin vaccine to eliminate polio even though you already have had Salk shots. Salk vaccine provides temporary immunity and requires "booster" injections at intervals. Sabin gives lasting protection against all three types and prevents you from being a polio carrier. A 25 cents donation is asked, the same as for Type I. If you are unable to pay 25 cents, the vaccine will be given free.

Vaccine Stations
Get your oral vaccine in Daly City at the Fernando Rivera School, 101 Lake Merced boulevard, and Westmoor High School, 131 Westmoor avenue.

Other locations for receiving the vaccine are:

Pacifica — Linda Mar School, Rosita and Adobe, and Oceana High School.
Colma — Colma Upper School, 601 Market street; Ben Franklin School, 700 Stewart avenue.
South San Francisco — South San Francisco High School, 400 B street; El Camino High School, 1320 Old Mission road; Parkway School, 825 Parkway; and El Rancho School, 753 Del Monte drive.

Police To Be Out In Force Tonight

Daly City police have announced they will be out in force tonight to curb any outbreaks of Halloween violence. Reserves and regular police, uniformed and plainclothesmen, will be on duty along with Halloween revelers.

Police Chief Roland Petrocchi warns that any adult or juvenile who interferes with foot traffic or costumed trick and treat children will be arrested. Mob scenes in drive-in restaurants and in shopping centers, such as occurred on last Halloween, will be short lived. Dances and parties hosted by the schools and the recreation department will be rigorously policed.

Hot rodding juveniles, speeding through the streets will be vigorously prosecuted. Persons who throw objects or spray ingredients of any type from moving vehicles will be apprehended.

THE REVEREND Father Richard Long of Holy Angels Church gives the invocation at the dedication of the Lincoln Park Clubhouse last Saturday morning. The new club house was officially accepted by the Daly City recreation department. Master of ceremonies at the

per was already amply supplied with hospital beds, and because of the congested, built-up area surrounding the present Mary's Help Hospital, with no room for expansion or parking facilities, the Sisters decided to seek a new and growing area where hospital services were in greater need.

Dr. Anthony J. J. Rourke, M.D., nationally known hospital consultant, was commissioned to make a study of hospital services in the San Francisco area and his report showed that the greatest need for a general community hospital was not more than a 15 or 20-minute drive from their present location... namely, just across the San Francisco County line in North San Mateo County.

Several years prior to this survey there had been a growing hospital consciousness in the area based on the realization that hospital services were totally inadequate for the booming population of North San Mateo County and that continued population growth at a high rate necessitated the planning or hospital facilities to meet future needs. More than two years ago the mayors of the cities in the area, Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco and Pacifica formed a Mayors' Hospital Committee to investigate the formation of a hospital district.

Learning later that the Daughters of Charity were planning to re-locate their Mission district hospital, the Mayors' Committee petitioned them to build their new hospital in the midst of these fast growing communities. With a present population of 125,000, and a projected doubling of this figure within the next 18 years, this area was confirmed by the State Hospital authorities as "Priority Area No. 1" in need of hospital facilities.

Public Works Employee Cited For Service

Dad's Visit To Stepson Clears Market Robbery

A father's visit to his stepson at Youth Guidance Center in San Francisco Sunday landed three men in prison and cleared the $650 armed robbery of Mayfair Market, 2350 Junipero Serra boulevard in Daly City.

The father, George W. Trotter, 34, is in jail on robbery charges involving seven stickups and some $3,400 in loot.

Police arrested two other men as accomplices after they were curbed in a stolen rented car. One of the two, Fred W. Crotts, Jr., 20, wanted in the Mayfair Market robbery, got out of the car with his hand on a loaded and cocked derringer in his pocket and at first refused to raise his hands.

Trotter was wanted, among other things, for an Oct. 24 holdup of Public Finance Co. at 3512 Geary boulevard along with the Daly City robbery.

The third suspect, John Fritts Jr., 23, was driving the three day overdue rented car. He lives at 1095 Mission street.

Patrolman Wins Fight With Thief

Robert Stone, 554 Wyandotte, Daly City, a San Francisco police patrolman, came out best in a scuffle with a jewel thief early Monday outside a Union Square jewelry store in San Francisco.

Stone and patrolman John Minoli, who had been cruising nearby, heard a report that a silent alarm had been touched off at Ciro's of Bond Street, 254 Geary street.

Minoli had to chase one of the suspects, George R. Perry, 49, an ex-convict from San Leandro, on foot to Stockton and O'Farrell streets, finally firing a warning shot in the air to halt him. Harper started scuffling with Stone and tried to grab Stone's gun. Stone hit him over the head with the gun, knocking him unconscious. Harper regained consciousness an hour later.

Carpenter Injured By Rolling Truck

John H. Newmarker, 35, of 389 Guttenberg street, Daly City, was seriously injured last Friday on Wellington avenue, east of Winchester street, when his truck, which he was attempting to hold from rolling down a hill, ran over his body.

Newmarker, a carpenter for Belle Haven Realty Company of San Mateo, had stopped his truck at the top on a hill and set the emergency brake. He stepped out of the vehicle to look for his wife, who he was supposed to meet.

The truck began to move down the hill and Newmarker was unable to hold it by hand. He lost his footing and slipped under the truck. His feet became entangled in the suspension of the truck and the front wheel ran over the lower portion of his body. Newmarker was then dragged about 15 feet and thrown clear. He was taken to Junipero Serra Hospital.

County Kennel Club All-Breed Show Nov. 18

A Daly City pooch may crash through social barriers and join the cream of dogdom society on November 18.

On that day, champion canines from all over the nation will be strutting in style at the San Mateo Kennel Club's 59th All Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trials, held annually at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds.

But not all the dogs there will be purebreds, for one—"the Bay Area Dog Hero of the Year"—will not be required to present a pedigree to gain admittance. Any dog is eligible for the award.

Any Bay Area dog owner 18 years old or under whose dog has, in his eyes, done something heroic in the past year, need only write a nominating letter to have his pet considered for the honor. Entry letters, addressed to the San Mateo Kennel Club, 1299 Bayshore highway, Burlingame, must be postmarked before midnight Friday, November 9. The winners will be announced prior to the show.

Besides the opportunity to mingle with "society," the "Dog Hero" will receive a $50 trophy and valuable merchandise including a large supply of dog food. The hero's owner will receive a $15 cash prize. Two other dogs, placing second and third in the contest, will also receive the merchandise and dog food. Their young owners will be awarded $10 and $5 in cash. Every youth who writes a nominating letter will receive show passes for himself and his parents.

Along with the hero, more than 2,000 purebred dogs will be on hand at the nationally ranked show to compete for 400 trophies and prizes. In addition to the extensive competition among 122 different breeds, the all-day event will feature seven specialty shows calling attention to the Borzoi, Akita, Terrier, Cocker Spaniel, Fox Terrier, Kerry Blue Terrier, Chihuahua and Brussels Griffon.

Three occupants in the vehicle, at the time of recovery, are being investigated for armed robbery and burglary which occurred in Marin County Oct. 22.

TV and RADIO

By Mona Baker

Telestar — that "magic bird" flying around in space fascinates us. How will it be used? What will be the programming when world-wide television becomes a daily reality beaming programs instantaneously to countries around the world, from the burning deserts to the cold northlands?

Meeting last week in New York, at the invitation of ABC, NBC, CBS, Metro and USIA, was the European Broadcasting Union made up of television and radio representatives from every European country (except Iron Curtain nations) and Canada, Japan and Australia. They discussed programming, technical and legal matters as they relate to international television.

Speaking before the conference, NBC's Robert W. Sarnoff suggested the creation of "a world-wide organization of broadcasters to meet vital problems and challenges of global television."

Donald W. Coyle, president of ABC International Television, said that television is perhaps the most important single device science has ever placed in the hands of man. He commented that "television wants the best you can offer, and it needs it now."

On the subject of outstanding television programming, some of the best programs produced in the nation have been by educational stations.

In the current issue of "TV Guide" (October 27) is an extremely informative article on "Educational Television: Boon or Boondoggle." There is a wealth of interesting facts in the story such as one that throughout the nation "more than 4,000,000 students now receive regular television instruction in their classrooms." Several references were made in the article to KQED which says that "KQED ranks with Boston's WGBH as the most successful stations."

COMING PROGRAMS: Premiering this week (November 2, 7:30 p.m.) over KPIX, first children's specials produced by WBC on art and history of magic titled "Magic, Magic, Magic."

Roy Rogers and Dale Evans will be video-taping portions of their ABC-TV variety show at the Cow Palace on November 4, to be aired on KGO-TV on November 17 at 8 p.m.

New time for KRON-TV's basic education series, "Operation Alphabet." The program will now be seen on Saturday and Sunday at 7 a.m.

Over KTVU on "True Adventure" to be seen in color on October 30 will be travelogue "Cannibal Kings of New Guinea."

Radio station KSFO was honored by the San Francisco Press and Union League Club for the best radio documentary of '61 in their first annual radio and television news awards presentation. The winning documentary was "Bel Air Fire... Can It Happen Here?"

By JACK WOOD

On October 18, Daly City gave thanks to a busy man.

He is a doctor, a dedicated doctor, who has served this community faithfully for over 20 years.

A legacy of broken bones, emergency sutures, split second decisions lie in the past of this man. He has saved many lives. And in Daly City, Dr. L. A. Drees, owner-operator of Junipero Serra Hospital received his just dues.

Dr. Drees is a big, heavy-set man. A man's man. He talks to the point and doesn't put frills in his speech.

On October 18, Dr. Drees attended a dinner and received his thanks. Then he went back to work.

On that day he cared for several people.

He went back to work and continued to cure the disabled, the infirm, the crying infants, the worried mothers, the sick, the needy, the diseased, the poor.

Daly City's emergency hospital service still functions—and only because of the efforts of one man—Dr. Drees.

The Daly City emergency treatment has been excellent and it is only through the efforts of Dr. Drees that it has been.

Dr. Drees served as a surgeon in the Navy during World War II. He established his hospital in Daly City in the 30's. At that time, emergency ambulance service and emergency hospital service in Daly City was almost non-existent. People were literally dying on the highways for lack of attention.

Daly City is the number one priority area for a hospital in the Bay Area.

Groundbreaking begins this month on a hospital that will be 2½ years in the making. The Mary's Help Hospital to be located on a hill off of Junipero Serra boulevard in Daly City like a beacon of hope offering round-the-clock service.

Gene Hoffman publicity director and coordinator of the building fund for the hospital said this week that a fund drive is underway to raise the necessary funds for construction. A total of $3,800,000 has been

Daly City Postmaster Sets Overseas Postal Deadlines

The period between November 1 and 20 has been designated for mailing to points overseas for both military and civilians, for assured delivery before Christmas, Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy of Daly City advised this week.

Air service is available to practically all countries in the world. It was recommended that air mail parcels be mailed previous to December 9 in order to assure pre-Christmas delivery, Murphy stated.

The long sea transit frequently involved in the transmission of parcels by surface means, customs declarations, inspections and other formalities that parcels may be subjected to in the country of destination require that mailings be made sufficiently in advance to assure Christmas delivery. Surface mails received by the Daly City post office not later than the following dates will normally reach their destinations before Christmas:

Far East, November 1; Near East and Africa, November 10; South America, November 10; Central America, November 10.

K. O. Polio Vaccine November 4

Probably everyone in the Bay Area knows by now there are three types of polio, and that the siege guns of the K. O. Polio campaign are zeroing in on Type II, which will be hit by a mass barrage November 4.

It is equally probable that very few of the more than 2,700,000 Bay Area residents who were immunized against Type I polio with Sabin oral vaccine on September 23 can explain how the types differ.

However, unless they are in the medical profession or studying for it, they don't need to, Dr. Edward B. Shaw, K. O. Polio drive leader, said this week.

"To the victims of polio virus strains, the differences are purely academic," said Dr. Shaw. "One type is just as vicious as another. Each can cripple or kill when it strikes."

"The effects of all three are the same. Each can attack any part of a person," he explained. "It is true that Type II is less prevalent than Type I, which is the most common strain."

Type II hasn't hit the Bay Area in two years now. But that doesn't mean it's dead. Like any virus, it can rise suddenly and strike in epidemic proportions at any time — especially where it has been inactive, because our natural defenses are weaker then.

"Each viral type is distinct from the others," he continued, "but the differences are apparent only in the laboratory. They were isolated and identified there — and that's where the weapons to fight them have been forged."

The greatest weapon yet developed is Dr. Albert Sabin's oral vaccine, Dr. Shaw said. He explained its superiority to an earlier vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk this way:

"Sabin's oral vaccine is 'attenuated' virus, like the familiar smallpox vaccine. The virus has been tamed to the point it can't give anyone polio but it will create antibodies (the body's natural defenders against disease) to provide full protection."

"The Sabin vaccine provides intestinal immunity to polio — as contrasted with the bloodstream immunity of Salk vaccine. The Salk vaccine, given by needle, is a killed virus vaccine. It, too, can protect for a while, but constant boosters are needed."

"And Sabin vaccine keeps you from being a polio carrier, which Salk shots never could do," Dr. Shaw added.

He noted the Type II Sabin to be given on November 4 has been thoroughly tested and licensed in October, 1961, by the United States Public Health Service. It also has been unqualifiedly approved by the California State Department of Health and county health officers.

Dr. Shaw, head of the department of pediatrics at the University of California's school of medicine, says: "I have seen hundreds of polio cases through the years, and I know how much suffering polio can inflict."

That's why he urgently pleads for everyone to take Sabin Type II vaccine on November 4, whether or not they took the Type I vaccine. If the turn-out equals or betters that for Type I vaccine on September 23, Type II can also be effectively checked here, he declared.

His plea is aimed at all age groups. Many people still call polio "infantile paralysis," Dr. Shaw noted, but that's more than a bit misleading:

"Polio can hit the baby, the junior miss, the college halfback, Dad or Mother, or great-granddad. What's more, people of all ages can be carriers unless they take the Sabin vaccine."

Type II Sabin drops will be offered November 4 at the same 360 vaccine stations in operation on September 23. A 25 cent donation will be asked to help pay costs of the campaign, but vaccine will be given free to those who can't afford to donate.

The K. O. Polio drive is sponsored by the Bay Area Medical Association Committee, representing more than 6,000 private doctors of the San Francisco Medical Society, the Alameda-Contra Costa County Medical Association, Marin Medical Society, San Mateo County Medical Society, and the Santa Clara County Medical Society.

Kennedy Declares San Mateo County A Disaster Area

Gov. Edmund G. Brown has announced receipt of a telegram from President John F. Kennedy in which the president declared nine northern California counties a disaster area.

The president's wire, which was in response to one from Governor Brown asking the presidential action:

"As you requested, I have declared a major disaster under authority of Public Law 875 in those areas of California adversely affected by severe storms and flooding beginning on or about Oct. 10, 1962."

"The authorization of a specific allocation of federal funds will await your further request and justification."

"Please extend my sympathy to all who suffered damage or loss as a result of the recent storms."

The governor said "I am gratified by President Kennedy's prompt action on our request. I know this will gladden northern Californians who bore the brunt of this storm as well. This federal action will help us get on with the clean-up and replacement and repair of damaged facilities."

The counties included in the disaster area are Alameda, Butte, Contra Costa, Modoc, Napa, San Mateo, Sierra, Sutter and Yuba.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

As he lay dying, Benedict Arnold, the traitor, called for his Continental uniform and said "Let me die in my old uniform. God, forgive me for ever putting on another."

His misery is a contrast to the serenity experienced by his formed comrades as they approached death. George Washington said, "Tis well," nothing else, and General "Mad" Anthony Wayne: "This is the end. . . . Bury me here on the hill—by the flag pole."

These words come from the book entitled "The Dictionary of Last Words," by Edward S. Le Comte. The speakers are persons noted enough to be included in standard works such as "Webster's Biographical Dictionary," and "The New Century Cyclopedia of Names." Among them are martyrs bearing witness to their faith; warriors, brave to the last, cowards, frightened and puzzled. Some died with words of hope and peace on their lips, other with curses for their enemies. In this book are notes from lonely succedees and notes from lovers who died as they spoke the names of their loved ones.

Here are the last thoughts of the brave and the angry, the frightened and the puzzled, the repentant and the unrepentant, the faithful and the irreverent.

One of the most striking last words were those of the poet Leigh Hunt. Said he, "I don't think I shall get over this." Nero said, "Ah what an artist is lost to the world." Seward, the Danish warrior, said, "Shame on me that I did not die in one of the many battles I have fought, but am reserved to die with disgrace the death of a sick cow." Anne Boleyn, who was being executed by Henry VIII, said, "I intend not an accusation of anyone. I beseech the almighty to preserve His Majesty long to reign over you: a more gently or mild prince never swayed the sceptre."

Henry, himself, remained a king and a dictator to the end. His last words were spoken to those who had kept their heads while they served him. "To them he said, 'Take a little sleep, and then . . . I will advise you.'"

La Comte's book is arranged alphabetically by the last names of the speaker. The only illustration is on the cover. It shows six guns pointed at a blindfolded man. Perhaps he was John D. Lee who was shot as a murderer while others who were just as guilty went free. He said, "I hope to meet the bullets with manly courage." Or he may be Sir George Lisle, English royalist, who was shot for his allegiance. "Now then rebels and traitors do your worst to me."

"The dictionary of Last Words" is in the reference section of the Westlake Library.

Ethics and Other Things . . .

You work very hard on this case and you come up with your thief. Much property has been taken by the burglar and you have traced some of it to the thief's house. The house is located in the neighboring community of Brisbane.

So you go down to the office of Jerry Ragan, a deputy district attorney, and there substantiate your findings. He has prepared for you an affidavit, and you sign your life away again.

You appear before the Honorable Judge Becker, who issues a search warrant on the basis of your information.

Two partners and you journey to Brisbane and by prearrangement meet Calvin Smith, chief of police of the new police department of that recently incorporated city. Chief Smith is cooperative and efficient, and all of you drive to the address in question.

Your thief is not home, but his wife is. She is a barefoot beauty who is surrounded by a number of runny-nosed and noisy progeny. She is fearful, but allows you to enter in obedience to the warrant. You search and find and recover. The recovered property is dutifully marked and tagged, and an itemized receipt is issued to the young woman with the dirty feet and faith in her husband.

You decide not to upset the household further by leaving a man or two to await the return of the thief-husband. So you give the young woman your card and impress upon her the importance of her telling her husband to phone you in the morning.

So you thank Chief Smith, and go home—and find that your own children are properly abed, having spent another night without their Dad. And you ponder this — the running down of other people's children for their misdeeds, all the while neglecting your own offspring.

Your thief phones the next day and you level with him. Come on in, you tell him, and tell the other side of the story. He professes innocence, but agrees to show up in company with an attorney.

In the afternoon, a young, polite attorney calls at your office in the broken down, musty, over-crowded police station. He represents himself as counsel for your thief. You invite them both in.

So your thief tells his story, and he lies. You show this to him and to his barrister. You tell him that he will be arrested and that you have a warrant for this purpose.

The attorney bargains. His man has a company truck to return to his employer, and he would like to interview him further. You are easy. You arrange with the attorney to surrender the burglar at 5:30 p. m. the next evening. You tell him to arrange for bail so that his client will not have to spend the night in the bucket, as they say.

But you have made a mistake. Your thief packs up his family and leaves the area. He may have left the state. He does not show at the appointed time. Somewhat belatedly, the attorney phones and conveys to you the message that he has not yet seen his client. Further conversation elicits the intelligence that the thief had mentioned leaving the jurisdiction. There are professional ethics among attorneys, however, and this man could not resolve to tell you this at the time he heard it, which was the day before.

And so you are without your suspect. It doesn't really cost you anything, except for chipped enamel resulting from much gnashing of teeth.

You put out the necessary teletypes, write the necessary letters, and try a few phone calls. You cover the bases by checking the thief's house and place of employment. But you are running these base paths after the ball game — the man has bugged out.

He has told neighbors and the grocery clerk that he has been unjustly accused of something and that he is leaving. You laugh a little, for this is a fine display of innocence, this flight.

In actuality you, and the attorney, and the thief are pretty much agreed as to the guilt of the man. You don't have your man because you mistakenly treated the low-life like a gentleman, banking on his being a family man and on a certain confidence in the attorney.

Your further investigating shows that the thief's father helped him to move his belongings. The father and mother and brothers and sisters live in Daly City. You go to that place and knock on the door. You are armed with a warrant of arrest and there is some reason to believe that the thief might be inside. You enter.

You find that the thief was a chip off the old block, for the father's house is filthier even than the one you had searched in Brisbane. Your burglar is not there, and it is then fairly apparent that he is out of state.

You are confronted by a 16-year-old brother of the crook, who demands a search warrant before he will let you through the house. After explaining the facts of life to him, and displaying the warrant of arrest, you complete your look around. You find an alien, without papers sleeping upon one of the numerous unmade and dirty beds in the hotel.

He awakens and you converse. He produces no papers, but you leave action against him until later.

You leave the place. Patrolman Sims cites an auto parked across the sidewalk, at your request — he is the beatman and would have found the violation later, anyway.

You leave. Your warrant will stay in effect and the notices are out. Someone will pick up your burglar eventually.

Still, you are a little disgruntled at treating this thief like people. Next time — well, who knows? Some citizen will ask for a break, or for sympathy, or empathy, and likely you will indicate to the citizen to tell his troubles to the judge. And you will book him forthwith.

Or maybe the citizen will have an attorney, whose word is god, and who has ethics, and with

by JACK WOOD

By JACK WOOD

Some notes on population:

The San Francisco Bay Area Council discloses that San Mateo County's population may have reached the half-million mark. As of July 1, the county population was 492,000.

According to figures released by the council, San Mateo County is second in its rate of growth only to San Francisco County.

San Mateo has been showing a growth rate of 10.9 per cent. The population of the entire Bay Area will reach 4,000,000 by next January, according to the council.

County supervisors have indicated they will decide soon on whether the county's five supervisorial districts should be reapportioned and which plan to choose from.

Board chairman T. Louis Chess said a date for a decision on redistricting should be set within two weeks.

NO REPLACEMENTS — Supervisor Fitzgerald is worried about what he calls lack of replacements for city officials in the event of an atomic attack.

Only a few cities in San Mateo County have designated alternates to take over for regular officials who might be killed or incapacitated in an attack, Fitzgerald, county Civil Defense co-ordinator, said.

At an emergency Civil Defense meeting last week, Fitzgerald suggested that each city establish a line of succession in its officialdom.

South San Francisco's school libraries are seven years away from national standards, the school board learned recently.

Besides the lack of books, the board heard that libraries have been relegated to hallways, closets and tiny rooms in the district. Only the new El Camino High School was graded as having adequate space for a library.

A total of 72,000 additional books are said to be needed.

Officers Elected At George Washington

Student Council executive officers for the George Washington School were elected last Wednesday, October 24. They will serve for four quarters. The new president, who presides over the council and student body meetings, is Steve Kirby, from Mrs. Hennessey's class. Vice-president is Edda Montali, from Mr. Hough's room. She takes over for the president in his absence and makes all signs and student council bulletin boards.

Secretary is Sandra Cross, from Mrs. Hennessey's class. She keeps the minutes and attendance of all meetings and she does all of the council correspondence. Treasurer, who is in charge of student council fund-raising activities and financial statements, is Louise Hampton, from Mrs. Crew's room. The officers were elected by the members of the Student Council.

The objective of the Student Council are delineated in the preamble: "The aim of student government is to foster individual self-government, self-control, self-direction, self-discipline, and a personal sense of responsibility."

The objective of this organization is to discuss policies, to formulate policies, to make decisions, to carry out decisions, and to promote good citizenship in the community and the school. The council is also trying to develop a system of more co-operative effort in school activities.

Foreign Language Classes At Westmoor Mix Fun, Education

Laymen-linguists of French, German, and Spanish at Westmoor find a variety of class materials and club activities to interest them in the language program.

First-year Spanish students in Norman MacDonald's class can expect short, daily quizzes on grammar this semester. Later reports will be given on the cultural background of Spain. From Spanish newspapers and magazines are clipped articles of current events which the fourth-year students report to the class.

Elected Spanish Club president October 24 was senior Ricky Spector. Assisting in official business will be Sherry Rosen, vice-president, and Diane Calderoni, secretary-treasurer. The club is planning to see a movie in November and to have a dinner each semester this year.

In addition to studying grammar, teaching pronunciation with the use of tape-recorders, and singing songs in French are some of French class programs. The fourth-year students assemble bulletin boards on French culture and politics, hold debates on controversial subjects, and play such games as "Password" "en Francais."

Also incorporating the use of tape recorders and maintaining bulletin boards of events, jokes, and scenes are the German classes. Miss Ceelia Hinz, Westmoor's German teacher, says this year she is stressing the oral rather than the grammatical approach for her students. The fourth-year class is conducted exclusively in the German tongue. This includes conversations and oral reports.

Roughly twenty members of the German Club went Saturday to see "Die Budden Brooks" and "Es war in Firof." Other events scheduled by the club include dining at the Shadows in November and going bowling. At club meetings, the game "charades" is popular. Titles are guessed and translated from English to German in a given amount of time.

After-school business meetings are held once-a-month for each language club. This year they will handle a joint coke concession at one of the school activities and will divide the profit.

Jefferson PTA To Present
Dinner And Variety Show

At the last meeting of the Jefferson High School PTA on October 18, parents attended a discussion led by Miss Ada Wood and Napoleon Triplett, senior counselors. The program pertained to college education for young people, entrance requirements, scholarships, and related matters.

Questions from the audience were invited and answered. The next regular meeting of the PTA will be held November 8 in the high school cafeteria at 2:30 p.m. The program will feature a panel of parents ready to give opinions on many of the problems of youth today.

It is hoped that all parents will bring questions that they may have regarding dating, smoking, drinking, dress, and other problems that might be solved by general discussion and exchange of viewpoints.

Westmoor High
Seniors Honored
In National Test

Four Westmoor High School seniors have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit scholarship Qualifying Test with a formal Letter of Commendation.

Seniors Spencer Bader, Ann Irby, Marguerite Jarchow, and Gary Zimmerman took the NMSQT last spring, along with Westmoor's two semifinalists Jack Petranker and Ken Lehn, and now are among the two per cent of seniors in the nation honored.

"We earnestly hope that the commended students will continue their education," stated John Stalmaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "By doing so they will benefit both themselves and the nation."

Besides the 28,700 students which received Letters of Commendation, there were this year 11,000 semifinalists. The program has provided for over 200 Merit scholar graduates, and there are now more than 3500 Merit scholars enrolled in about 400 colleges and universities in the United States.

Westmoor High
Annual Club Days

Club Days are here! Westmoor is putting on its first annual Club Days program this week, concluding Wednesday.

Jayne Monson, who is commissioner of Clubs at Westmoor, started Club Days to show the students what the 21 different clubs in the school had to offer. Booths are being set up in the cafeteria on both days at lunch. From these booths the clubs are handing out leaflets to explain what their purposes, aims and activities are.

It is hoped that this system of bringing the clubs to the student will enlarge the clubs and better inform the students on club activities. Students are urged to join any club that interests them and to participate in Club Days.

D-Day For Broadmoor Presbyterian

Next Sunday, November 11, is D-Day on 87th street in Colma for members and friends of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church. "D" is for Dedication, the final phase in the "A-B-C-D" program of stewardship which has been building up during October. Announcement, briefing and commitment sections have passed, prompting canvass chairman Ken Gillespie to state:

"A-B-C-D, letters four, were marked upon the church's door. A-B-C have come and gone... leaving 'D' the only one."

From the pulpit, from the lectern, through the mails, by personal contact and at church meetings, members of the congregation have been apprised of the church's financial needs for the coming year.

Flood-lit posters in the narthex of the church illuminate the on-going program of the local and world-wide mission. Taped broadcasts have been sent to group meetings where speakers couldn't attend in person.

Pledge cards were issued to each member family, with an invitation to return them on or before Dedication Sunday, November 4. Program charts were displayed at last Sunday's service.

During the 11 a. m. worship service on D-Day, the Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie will preach his annual stewardship sermon, and will formally commission the men of the church who will make home visitations to those members who have not as yet responded to the campaign.

Immediately after the service, the canvassers will meet for lunch, receive their lists of calls, pair off into two-man teams, and stand forth.

The luncheon is hosted by ladies of the Women's Association, most of whom are wives of the canvassers. Mrs. James Hamilton, president of the group, remarked: "We feed them just well enough to make them want to finish their calls in a hurry, and with great spirit and determination. From A Feminine Viewpoint...

By Mona Baker

"The average age for becoming a writer is 45" related professional writer, Mrs. William Boggess Jr. who spoke at last Thursday's book review of the Daly City Friends of the Library. She went on to comment that one of her students was 70 years old before she sold her first story.

Her entertaining talk interspersed with amusing antidotes as well as sound professional advice for beginning writers held the complete attention of the audience.

She said she is often asked how she got started writing. With a shy smile she confessed "I didn't even start writing until I was 40 years old." She said she filled in for a vacationing friend on a small Texas weekly newspaper and was launched on her career.

Discussing the steps to publishing the noted author stressed that a writer is a professional and has to learn his craft. Another helpful hint is that a writer should keep regular business hours (8 to 5, time off for lunch). Added hints she continued are a writer "should be sensitive to everything about him" and "love people."

Mrs. Boggess is also an instructor on the staff of San Mateo College where she has been teaching magazine writing for the past six years.

In answer to our question she said that her classes are held on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings from 9 to 12 in the morning. If you have been interested in writing we certainly can recommend her classes and now that she is a real inspiration to all budding authors.

Our community leader this week is also a writer—she is editor of the monthly publication "Winston Shopper" with a distribution of almost 350. Not only does she edit the little bulletin, but she assigns reporters, types up the paper and mimeographs it—all as a community service.

In her "spare time" she helps out in community activities such as the annual 4th of July celebration, where she prepared "so many chili beans they were running out of her ears," served on the recent dance committee and is now working on the Christmas celebration. She is also on the Board of Directors of the Winston Manor Home Owners Association.

She is particularly interested in children and has written several editorials on keeping youngsters out of the streets.

We salute Ida Saucedo, the community leader of the week. The Saucedos, husband Frank, children, Laura and Frank Jr., live at 53 Calvert in Winston Manor No. 1.

Two important dates for the musical community to mark on their calendar are November 3 and 10 when the Peninsula Symphony Orchestra presents their opening concert of the 1962-63 season.

Included on the program are Beethoven's Leonore Overture No. 3 and Mozart's Concerto No. 24 for piano and orchestra with Aaron Stein conducting and guest pianist William Corbett Jones.

This Saturday's concert will be held at San Mateo High School auditorium and the following Saturday at Foothill College auditorium in Los Altos. Tickets may be purchased at the door and the concerts begin at 8:30 p.m.

Certainly an important addition to the Daly City musical community is the women's choral group the "Bell Tones" who sang last week at the dedication of Lincoln Park Clubhouse. Their songs included: "Sing Little Banjo," "Tommy," an American folk song and dramatic closing song the rousing "Halls of Ivy."

Quite striking are the Bell Tones in black robes topped with a shocking pink flowing chiffon stoles. Each girl purchased her own robe and with assistance of director Patti Stolz whipped up their stoles.

There are still openings in the chorus so if you like to sing give Director Stolz a buzz at JU 6-2287. They practice on Thursday evenings at the Lincoln Clubhouse.

Rams, SSF In NPL Grid Crucial

Coach Pete Matis's Ram griders have been scoring so many points of late that the Ram mentor is thinking seriously of entering the Hilltoppers in the National Basketball Association race.

The Rams, who have been scoring at such a pace that it has made Wilt the Stilt blush, meet another high scoring aggregation Friday afternoon when they host coach Ray DeJong's South San Francisco Warriors in a 3 p. m. contest on the Ram field.

The two teams have scored a fantastic total of 151 points in the four league games between them. The Rams have exploded for 85 points in their last two games, while the blue and white bombers from B street have tallied 66 points in their last two games.

The all important clash on the Ram field is expected to decide the league championship. Each has a 2-0 record, and along with Terra Nova, top the North Peninsula League race.

The Rams were the pre-season favorites and have lived up to their forecasts so far. South City was picked a close second and they have come through. Each team sports an overall 4-2 record.

Last week, the Rams dumped Jeff, 38-13, and the Warriors blasted Oceana, 34-0.

One thing is for sure, the Warriors will have to have their pass defense in top shape if they expect to take the title-minded Rams. Against Jefferson last week, Westmoor's Bruce Hix connected on nine of 14 passes for a fantastic 252 yards in the air.

On the other hand, the Rams will have to have their line in shape to contain the array of speedy Warrior backs.

It is expected to be a game to the finish. With only three games remaining on the schedule, following Friday's contest, the loser will just about be eliminated from winning the title.

Both teams are in good physical shape.

The Rams are paced by the sweet-throwing Hix, end Steve Schmuck and flanker Marc Mallinger. Mallinger, a late season discovery, has been the principal recipient of Hix's tosses. The speedy junior hauled down four passes last week for 147 yards and three touchdowns.

Also leading the Ram attack are halfbacks Mike DeBernardi and Mike Barish. In the line, Matis has had 205 pound tackle Bob Hansen, 193 pound tackle Mike Bowers and 185 pound guard Tony Thomas.

In last week's contest, the Rams exploded for 26 points in the second quarter to completely squelch any Jefferson ideas of an upset. DeBernardi garnered the first TD when he bucked over from the one yard line. Hix then teamed up with Mallinger to score three straight TDs on passes. The 185 pound flanker grabbed in passes for 63, 53 and 20 yard scores.

DeBernardi and Hix each scored in the second half. DeBernardi nabbed a Hix aerial for a 41 yard TD and Hix scooted over from the two yard line for the final score.

The Warriors feature a host of speedy backs, headed by Jesse Miller, Jim Shutz and Bob Szeher. Also aiding the cause is all-around Steve Balopulos. Balopulos operates from the fullback slot on offense and defensive end spot on defense.

He also does the extra point chores for SSF, making four of the kicks against Oceana last week.

In the line, DeJong has rugged Gary Iacini and Butch Vial. Both were instrumental in keeping the last two Warrior opponents scoreless.

In last week's win over Oceana, the Warriors were paced by the running of Shutz and Szeher. Shutz packed the ball for 63 yards in four carries for a bristling 16.2 average.

Szeher went for 49 yards in four carries, including a 35 yard touchdown romp, for 12.2 yards per carry.

In all, the blue and white forces used ten ball carriers against the young Sharks. Reserve quarterback Rich Cervelli engineered the victory, hitting on two out of six passes, good for 69 yards and one touchdown.

the winner's circle

By GARRY NIVER

Last Friday night in Davis, California, a scrappy grid team from San Francisco State College upset the Cal Aggie team from the country town, 12-7.

The stunning turn of events almost went unnoticed in the local daily press. The reason is that San Francisco State and the Cal Aggies are considered "small time" in this day and age of mechanical grid dynasties, built for the sole purpose of profit.

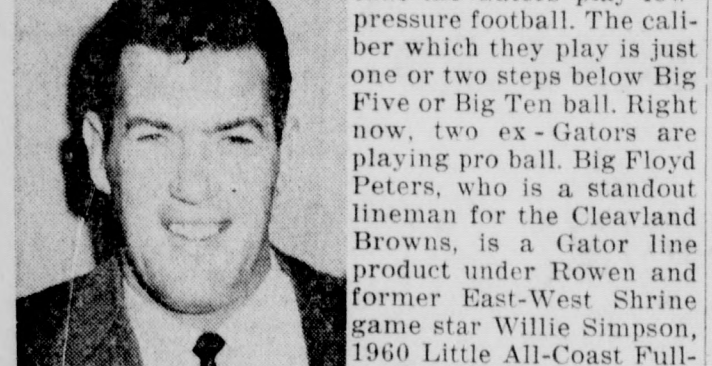

However, taken into the proper perspective, the Gator upset was just as smashing as Stanford's win over UCLA.

The Ags, one of the better small college aggregations in the country, had upset the nation's small college's fourth ranked Humboldt State the week before.

The upset came as no surprise to many who know and admire the talents of the Gator's head coach, Vic Rowen. Only two hours before the team left for Davis, Rowen lauded his troops saying "they are the best group of kids I have had in 17 years of coaching."

The Gator team, though low on experience, are a close family-like organization. Rowen, who has to be considered one of the finest mentors on the West Coast, is respected by his entire team, and in turn, holds great respect for each member of the Gators. This is a factor which is not found in the high-pressure type of football.

But Rowen doesn't want the public to get the idea that the Gators play low-pressure football. The caliber which they play is just one or two steps below Big Five or Big Ten ball. Right now, two ex-Gators are playing pro ball. Big Floyd Peters, who is a standout lineman for the Cleveland Browns, is a Gator line product under Rowen and former East-West Shrine game star Willie Simpson, 1960 Little All-Coast Fullback, is a member of the Oakland Raiders of the AFL.

BOB ST. CLAIR
... Out of Action

"We think that winning is an essential part of football and we try to maintain the winning patterns established by former coach Joe Verducci," says Rowen.

Rowen even admits that the college has an athletic recruiting program. But unlike the big high-pressure schools, the Gator recruiters are unable to offer scholarships and work on a limited budget. They take the player's future into consideration and strive to perfect him into a worthwhile product once he leaves the system.

"Our recruiting program offers the youth two things," says Rowen. "First, and foremost, we offer the youth a fine academic program. Secondly, we get the youth employment and provide him with excellent placement opportunities once he graduates."

Many of Northern California high school coaches are products of Rowen and Verducci. To name a few: Tony Fardella, Bob Warfield, and San Bonanno of South SF high; Floyd Gonella of Terra Nova High; Jess Jones of New Oceana; Bob Sexton of El Camino; Bob Lualhati of Jefferson; and Bill Carr of Westmoor.

Rowen believes that current quarterback Dick Valois will be one of the finest ever to come out of SF State.

The coaching business seems to be an inherent trait in the Rowen family. Besides Vic, there are three brothers who are coaches, or who have been coaches. Two brothers, Norm and George, are coaches in New York state, Norm being at Valley Stream and George coaching in the New York City school system. Another brother, Mel, is a former coach who has switched to school administration.

Coach Vic, as most of the college students address him, began his coaching career 17 years ago in New York City. Twelve years ago he took over as coach of Defiance College in Ohio and in 1953 led the team to an undefeated and untied season.

South SF Native Sons Win Daly City Softball Title

It was a very warm day last Sunday as "Iron Man" Bill Mendosa of SSF Native Sons took the mound against the hard-hitting Stumble Inn softball team. The pressure was on. Two great teams vying with each other for the Daly City Recreation Softball League championship.

"Iron Man" Mendosa, the P.E. instructor at Ben Franklin School, faced tricky Del Underwood, outstanding pitcher for Stumble Inn, throughout the hot afternoon. Underwood, who through the season was as generous with hits as a hermit is with hospitality, was hit well by the Native Sons' batters.

Julio Brascoso abused his pitching with a 3-3 record—a single, double and a home run with Larry Kennedy on base. The Natives collected a total of 12 hits off Del Underwood that accounted for six runs. Mendosa showed great control as he struck out eight Stumble Inn batters. He allowed only four hits and Underwood of the Inn to collect hits as he shut out the Stumble Inn team in the 6-0 championship win.

DC Pitcher Wins Third Ball Game

Daly City's Lou Ferrari, hurler for the Second Base Sporting Goods, notched his third straight win in the Class AA Winter League last Sunday as he defeated the Portola Orioles 8-1.

Ferrari's mound performance was highlighted by 15 strikeouts. He allowed the Orioles only four hits, while aiding his team's cause with two hits.

This Sunday Ferrari will take the mound against the Pacific Lions at the Jackson Playground.

Ben Franklin Downs Brisbane 28-0 In Jr. High Football

The Benjamin Franklin eighth grade touch football team moved into undisputed first place with a 28-0 win over Brisbane, while Alta Loma, previously tied with Benjamin Franklin for the league lead, lost to Colma, 8-6.

Quarterback Joe Weinberg returned the opening kickoff 47 yards to pay dirt and he also ran the conversion over to give Benjamin Franklin a quick 8-0 lead.

Benjamin Franklin scored the next time they got the ball, on a pass from Weinberg to Reed Rosenberg in the end zone. The conversion was good on a pass from Weinberg to halfback Bruce Brinkerhoff. So at half-time the score was B. F. 15, Brisbane 0.

Benjamin Franklin took along two seventh grade units and they played most of the second half. To open the second half,

B. F. kicked off to Brisbane and on the second play from scrimmage, B. F.'s halfback Rick Piercy intercepted a Brisbane pass and they took over the ball at the mid-field stripe. On the first play, quarterback George Garber hit end Bob Giorgetti on the 20 yard line and he scampered into the end zone for Ben Franklin's third touchdown.

The conversion failed and the score was now 21-0.

In the fourth quarter, halfback Bruce Brinkerhoff threw a pass to end Dave Pucci in the end zone for the final touchdown of the game. The conversion was good on a pass from quarterback Nick Buddea to Greg Agar and the final score was 28-0.

Benjamin Franklin takes their unbeaten string with them to Colma today, and Brisbane will travel to Alta Loma.

Indians Dislike Cellar

Coach Joe McGrath's Jefferson Indians, quite rankled at being assessed the cellar in the North Peninsula League, attempt to change their status this Friday when they trek to El Camino for a 2:45 p. m. tilt with the Colts.

Both teams are groping together in the dark depths with 0-2 records. The Indians hope to end the cellar hit once and for all with a sojourn up to the next plateau where the air is somewhat clearer.

At the same time, coach Tom McCormick's El Camino Colts will be looking to hand the Indians a stunner and project themselves out of the dark and deep situation.

Jefferson, 30-13 loser to Westmoor last Friday, will be working on their pass defense this week. Westmoor's Bruce Hix made shambles of the Indian aerial defense by passing for 252 yards and four touchdowns.

McCormick also attributed his loss to poor pass defense. Terra Nova's Manuel Pick rattled the Colt secondary with three touchdowns and tallied up 100 yards.

Despite the lapse in pass defense, McCormick thought that the Colts played a good ball game and were in the contest all of the way. The Colts out-gained the Tigers in first downs, nine to seven.

John LaSota was the big Colt gun with 49 yards in 16 carries for a 3.1 average. Halfback Dave Wick picked up 45 yards on two carries, while fullback Bruce Castellanos ground out 24 yards in ten carries. LaSota scored the first Colt touchdown on a one yard run in the second period. Castellanos added the final six-point play with a seven yard run in the fourth stanza.

In the Indian-Westmoor game, the Jeffs played good ball during the first period and then gave way to the passing arm of Hix. The Indian defense, led by Daryl Crist and Al Lonstron, held the Ram ground gain down to 114 yards.

Halfback Leo Gotelli was the Jeffs' key runner as he scooted for 44 yards on eight carries for a 5.5 average.

Despite the seemingly lopsided score, quarterback Larry Ahuna had a good day, hitting on nine out of 13 tosses for 95 yards. End Richard Arroyos grabbed five of the Ahuna aerials for 56 yards.

All-NPL nominee Rich Waller hauled in three passes for 38 yards and one touchdown.

The first score was the 14 yard aerial from Ahuna to Waller. The Indians scored again in the third period when reserve quarterback Archie Cordova snuck the ball in from the two yard line.

Westmoor's Junior Harriers Finish 2nd In Stanford Meet

Westmoor's Frosh-Soph cross-country team turned in an outstanding performance at the Stanford Center meet on October 25 against the best teams of northern California.

Leading the Rams to a second place finish behind Carlmont was sophomore Chris Bravos, who ran to a first place in the time of 10:28. In the third slot was Bob Beukers, another sophomore, in the time of 10:47.

Directly behind him was freshman Milo Torres, who also turned in a 10:47. Torres' time, as far as the coaches know, was the fastest time run this season by a freshman.

The other two Ram scorers were also freshmen. John Tuttle in a time of 11:20 copped 19th place, and Manuel Guillen took the 30th slot in a time of 11:41. Leading the J-V's to a high position was Dennis Tracy, a junior, who won the rave in a time of 10:42. Mark Clark surprised his teammate by running his best race of the season to finish fourth in a time of 10:47. Roy Pinelli, 33rd, 11:24; Ed Raymond, 34th, 11:24; and Bob Tuttle, 35th, 11:27, rounded out the scorers for the J-V squad.

The Ram frosh squad, because many freshmen were moved up to the frosh-soph race, did not fare as well as usual, although a good time of 11:48 was turned in by Bob Arriola.

Although they aren't on Dow Jones stock market listing, the Terra Nova Tigers are still the number one seller in the quiet coastal village of Linda Mar.

Coach Floyd Gonella's stocky troops, ignoring the odds-makers, sportswriters and bookies, have ascended the heights of gridiron prominence after losing 11 straight contests over a span of two years.

Today the gold and black griders are enjoying the unusual, but very scenic, view from atop the North Peninsula League heap. Terra Nova, along with Westmoor and South San Francisco, are 2-0 in the NPL standings.

And the Tigers look like they are in for another good week as they challenge the neophyte Oceana Sharks in a 2:45 p. m. contest on the Oceana field this Friday.

The Sharks are 0-4 to date and are not expected to knock the Tigers off of cloud nine.

While Terra Nova was beating El Camino, 28-12, last Friday afternoon, the Sharks were losing, 34-0, to South San Francisco.

However, the Jess Jones-coached Sharks are not to be considered too lightly. Especially when you consider the fact that many of this year's Sharks were last year's Tigers, and the Oceana eleven may have that little extra often incited by the emotions.

In last week's encounter with tough South San Francisco, the Sharks' air game showed signs of coming to life. Quarterback Steve McCaughey hit on six of 11 tosses against the tough SSF pass defense.

Fullback Rod McDonald led the Shark rushers with 31 yards in seven carries for a 4.4 average. Halfback Tom Sunny was next with 23 yards in 12 carries. End Duke Telegan grabbed in three of McCaughey's tosses.

In Terra Nova's win, it was the pin-point passing of quarterback Manuel Pick and the hard-running of fullback Fred Mason which led the Tigers over El Camino.

Pick, the guard converted to quarterback, passed for 180 yards, hitting on seven out of 11 passes. Mason rushed for 64 yards in eight carries for a scintillating 8.0 average. The 205 pound back picked up an additional 65 yards on two passes from Pick.

Steady Dennis Caruthers ground out 20 yards in four carries and scored on an 86 yard pass play from Pick. Jim Wedymiller also ended up with a good average, tallying 37 yards in six carries for a bristling 6.1 average.

The Tigers jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the second quarter. Pick hit Mason with 25 and 40 yard scoring aerials, respectively, to vault the home-town-ers into a 14-6 half-time lead. The Tigers scored again in the third period when Pick hit on his third TD fling of the day, an 86 yarder to Caruthers.

Mason scored the final Tiger TD in the fourth period when he slipped into the end zone from seven yards out.

It just wasn't Gene Fullmer's night when he lost his middleweight championship to Dick Tiger. The gateman at Candlestick Park's parking lot insisted on charging 75 cents to admit the Fullmer car into the parking area.

Stanford linebacker Ed Cummings has football desire that runs along the same track as Green Bay's Jim Taylor and ex-49er Johnny Strykowski. Cummings became so frustrated one time over spraining an ankle that he put his fist through a frat house window. It took 35 stitches to close the gash. Yet he's never missed a Stanford practice in three years, even though Cummings has fractured his right hand twice. Man, what a linebacker!

Strykowski was also a bonza-type griddier, as so many Bay Area fans remember. Strike made some good runs. But none ever equaled the one in 1948 against the Chicago Rockets in the now defunct All-American Conference. Johnny was up and down off the Kezar turf five times and still scored. . . . Strike is now a car salesman, but he still hasn't lost that old desire. The car dealership he works for had a get-up softball game recently between the salesmen and the mechanics. Strykowski banged out four homers and played every "out" for blood. Carl Reyna, one of the backshop men, commented after the game: "Strike ran around the bases as if the cops were after him."

Twenty-two years ago, the Wow Boys of Stanford were wovin' 'em. And today their sons are heading for local football recognition. Current Stanford fullback Stan Lindskog is the offspring of All-American center Vic, star quarterback Tom Kmetovic of Cubberly High School (Palo Alto) is the son of ex-Indian halfback Pete, and former prep ace Russ Banducci (all-leaguer from Menlo-Atherton High School) is Bruno's boy.

University of Washington has come up with a twin set that many match in ability the renowned McKeever look-a-likes who played at USC two seasons ago. Their names are Jerry and Jon Knoll, sophomores who hail from Great Falls, Mont. Both are 220 pound tackles. . . . Oregon State fullback LeRoy Whittle once ran a 47.7 quartemile at Berkeley High School.

Willie Davis, one of the kingpins in the four-man Green Bay defensive line, was quoted as saying in the Sporting News Quarterback section that Bob St. Clair of the 49ers gives him more trouble than any other lineman. Davis says he can never find out where the quarterback is "because St. Clair is so tall that when he straightens up on pass blocking, I can't see anything back there."

The Big Ten is experiencing their worst record in a decade against Pacific Coast schools this season. Ohio State, Iowa, Michigan State, Illinois and Indiana have all "taken gas," and Purdue was held to a tie by Washington. At the moment, only Iowa has beaten a West Coast team (Oregon State). Pacific Coast football is definitely on the upswing, but the NCAA standard for athletic scholarships has also affected the liberal Big Ten recruiting program.

Giant Mike McCormick, now pitching in the Arizona Instructional League, certainly isn't any big league "freak" who's trying to work out problem points this winter. Established mound aces such as Pittsburgh's Earl Francis and Joe Gibbon are also taking a regular turn around Apache Junction. . . . Springfield manager Andy Gilbert figures that he will make it an even dozen players that he has groomed for the parent San Francisco Giants. His most recent prodigy is third baseman Jim Ray Hart, a 21-year-old slugger who was signed for a measly one grand. Gilbert can't see how he can miss making the Giants next year. Hart hit .338 at Springfield last year and Gilbert claims "he can hit .300 in any league."

Rowen came to San Francisco State in 1954 as line coach under Verducci. In 1959 the Gators, who racked up a 10-0 record, were the only undefeated team in the West. Rowen took over the Gators in 1960 when Verducci was elevated to Dean of Activities, and led them to an 8-2 record.

Rowen, aside from coaching the Gator footballers and wrestling team, also is the chief West Coast football scout for the Baltimore Colts and, along with Verducci, is a scout for the Chicago Bears.

The friendly, rugged looking mentor, besides from his coaching experience, also played five years with the old Brooklyn Dodgers of the now defunct American Conference. He was also named to the All American, All Europe and All Star service teams while serving with the 101st Airborne division.

Rowen's education includes a BA from Long Island University and a Masters degree and Doctorate in Education from Columbia.

Rowen resides in San Francisco with his wife Selma, and children, Bruce 13, Keith 10, and little Elise, 3 years of age.

The Gator coach feels that the physical education program at SF State is one that most schools strive for, but never quite attain.

SF State college is fortunate in having a man of Rowen's stature and background in its program. They are fortunate that selfishness or outside pressure of "Win or Else" football is not prevalent. And the boys on the grid field are fortunate that they are learning not only top-flight football, but are learning how to coach the game the right way—which somehow to us, seems more important.

ON THE SIDELINES . . . Dick Valois, SF State's top-flight passer, will not be with the Gators next year. Although only a junior, the youth wants to take a crack at pro ball, and during the off-season complete his education. Many pro clubs, including Green Bay, have been taking a long look at him.

The little caricature figures of the local high schools seen on today's teen page were drawn by Paul Tapia, former Jefferson High grid star.

Tapia, who attended CSM and Humboldt State, is currently working as a bar-keep at the Old Firehouse on Junipero Serra in Daly City. The 1957 graduate of Jeff is also doing free lance art work.

Daly City Councilman Bob St. Clair missed the Monday night meeting because he tried to play full-back last Sunday against the LA Rams. The big 49er tackle sustained a knee injury after being felled by a host of Ram defenders, and will be lost to the 49ers for two weeks.

Westmoor Cagers Near Title

While the San Francisco Warriors are making a name for themselves in the big city, another pair of basketball teams are doing likewise in the suburbs.

Coach Tony Giammona's magnificent 10 and 20 cagers from the hilltop campus of Westmoor have blitzed through six straight opponents with nary a defeat and the gleaming new NPL championships are nearing their reach.

Last week, the cagers grabbed two wins each, the tens dumping Terra Nova, 47-15, and Oceana, 36-18, and the twenties belting the same teams 30-16 and 45-16.

In the first game, the Rams

110's won, 36-18, but it could have been more. The easy-going Rams picked their way through Oceana's defenses as if no one were on the court.

Ken Liss again sparked the Rams but he was supported strongly by gunners Roger Foss and Dan McGowan. Each had 11, 10 and 6 points, respectively.

Westmoor's 20's had an even easier time, winning 45-16. The first string played no longer than the first quarter, but still managed to land two players in double figures. Torrid shooting Jim Fair had ten points and Joaquin Andrade had eight.

Bench strength was shown strongly in this game by the Rams. Two players particularly impressed Giammona. Bob Bishop and Herb Miniken proved themselves good ball handlers and free scorers. Both Bishop and Miniken hit their 12 and 10 points on inside shots.

Earlier in the week, the Westmoor 110 and 120 cagers extended their win skein to five without a defeat this season after a double victory over coasts rival Terra Nova, 47-15, and 30-16, respectively, Tuesday.

The 10's, led by Ken Liss with 16 points, bombarded the defenseless Tigers, 47-15. Although the first string played only the first and third periods, there was never any doubt of victory as they jumped on the Tigers for a 20-1 lead at the end of the opening quarter.

Also figuring in the Ram's scoring were Rich Skinner with 14, Craig Castro with 12, Roger Foss with 7, Tim Corcoran with 6, and Dan McGowan with 2 points.

Not to be outdone, the 20's also romped over the Tigers, 30-16. Ten minutes was all the starters need to leave their mark as they ran up a 14-0 lead in the first quarter and started a second period which ended with the Rams ahead, 22-3. Jim Fair led the Rams with eight points. Fair was followed by John Putnam and Joaquin Andrade with six points each.

PAL Eagles Dump OLPH 48-0

The PAL Eagles came up with a big win this week over the OLPH Hornets. Showing the powerful running and passing game that has kept them undefeated, they downed OLPH, 48-0. Fred Balietto started the scoring with a 35 yard TD run then followed up with a long pass to Carlos Garcia for the next TD.

Larry Belfrage scored next going straight up the middle for seven yards. Back to Balietto for another eight yard run for a fourth TD. Butch Bonanitz intercepted a Hornet pass and went 60 yards for a Viking TD. Bud Kubowitz ran over the next TD from eight yards out. Gary Wilson collected two interceptions and Gordy Contreras starred in the line.

In the eighth grade game, the PAL Vikings romped over the Holy Angels Colts, 20-0. Ron Hackett was the big gun for the Vikings. He started the scoring with a 25 yard TD run. Gary Wilson intercepted a Colt pass and went 60 yards for a Viking TD. Bud Kubowitz ran over the next TD from eight yards out. Gary Wilson collected two interceptions and Gordy Contreras starred in the line.

In the eighth grade game, the PAL Bears rambled over the Holy Angels Falcons, 41-0. Barry Perrone put on a one-man show as he passed for four touchdowns and ran for two. Perrone hit Ron Caza for a 40 yard TD, Allen Ocese for a 20 yard TD, Grady Proctor for a six yard TD and Bobby Nolan for a 30 yarder.

His two runs for TDs covered five yards on the first, after a 30 yard pass to Guy Kubowitz, then a 50 yarder. Phil Cheverallera pulled down three PAT passes and Fred Garcia scored a two point safety. Dennis Smith and Larry Mannini, Mike Varni, Steve Howe were singled out as outstanding for the Bears.

The PAL Tigers continued their winning ways as they overshadowed the OLPH Hilltoppers, 20-6. Joe Farrell hit Steve Shoff for the first Tiger score on a 45 yards pass. Paul Ferien intercepted a Hilltopper pass and went five yards for the TD. Mike Miller scored the PAT. Miller then intercepted a pass and went 65 big yards for a TD. Joe Farrell hit Mike Wynne for the PAT.

Mike Chelone hit Rich Hall with a 20 yard TD pass for the Hilltoppers' lone score.

Mike Gugliemini put the OLPH Twisters in the win column this week as he led his team to a 26-0 win over the PAL Foresters. Mike hit right end for 35 yards and a TD to start the shutout. He next passed to teammate Ed Schweitzer who made a fantastic catch for a TD. Tommy Nery picked up some fine blocking and took one in from the 30. Gugliemini scored the fourth TD as he hit John McChung in the end zone.

Ram Frosh-Soph Gridders Edge Jefferson, 13-12

Westmoor's Frosh-Soph eleven edged Jefferson, 13-12, in a thrilling game played at Westmoor on October 25.

Trailing, 12-0, at the half, the determined Frosh-Soph gridders bounced back scoring twice in the final quarter on dashes by Brice, Sullivan and John Ednoff. A pass from John Heick to John Price for the extra point spelled the Indian's doom.

Westmoor gained a total of 83 yards on the ground and performed a tremendous defensive job the last half, throwing Jeff for minus yardage.

Halfbacks Sullivan and Ednoff, who played the entire game, and tackle John Blebow were complimented by coach Robert Lotfi for their performance.

Frosh-Sophers are pitted against rugged South City in an important tilt.

Westmoor Harriers Top SSF Warriors 24-31

Westmoor's hurrying harriers, running their best race as a team this season, defeated South City, 24-31, on the latter's course October 19.

"Running as a team, we can beat any team in this league," have been the constant words of coach Kent Herkenrath all season. His words finally sank in, as the Rams stayed together and topped five of the first eight places against a tough South City squad.

Leading the Rams again was junior Dennis Tracy, who came in second to Warrior Roland Casillas with a time of 10:03. Tracy might have been closer or even won had he not taken a wrong turn during the first mile of the race.

Right on Tracy's heels was soph sensation Chris Bravos in a time of 10:04. Taking fifth slot in the race and third for the Rams was another soph-more, Bob Beukers. Milo Torres, a freshman, took the sixth place and Mark Clark, the only senior on the varsity squad, completed the Ram scoring by gathering in the eighth position.

Junior varsity competition was not officially held so Ram J-V men ran in the varsity race. Leading the JV's were seniors Tom Dooley and Rich Cortesi and junior Tom Slavin.

Frosh-Sophers from the hill-top scored a "sweep" as the first 11 runners across the line wore the green and white of Westmoor. The final score was 15-60. Bob Tuttle and Paul Brown, both freshmen, ran together the entire race with Tuttle nosing out Brown for the first position with a time of 11:19. Other point getters for Westmoor were Bill Mulorev, Manuel Guillen and Bob Teuscher.

Rizzo Eleven Cops Flag Grid Contest

The results of Saturday's flag football at Benjamin Franklin was a decisive, 25-0, win for captain Mike Rizzo's team over the Ron Uhlenhopp eleven.

For the winners, quarterback Nick Buddea was instrumental in all of the scoring. In the first quarter, he threw TD passes to end Steve Myers and Paul Geller, giving them a 12-0 halftime advantage.

In the third quarter, Buddea hit captain Mike Rizzo in the end zone and the conversion was missed. With four seconds remaining in the game, Buddea again hit Myers in the end zone and they made the conversion on a pass from Buddea to Geller.

Other boys participating were Guy Aronson, Jim Helmer, Greg Raymond, Rick Esposto, Gary Perkins, Ron Sherman, Pat Ryan, Rick Cowan, Bruce Taylor, Dave Reed, Bruce Mason, Bill Villalon, Paul Walsh, Andy Ehat, Jerry Marshall, Tom Sullivan and Ted Arntz.

Mrs. Cho Roberts Tops Cypress Ladies' Golf With Net 61

Mrs. Cho Roberts toured the Cypress Hills Golf Course in an 81-20 net 61 to top the low honors in last week's Women's play. Mrs. Helen Rayhell was second with a net 63.

In the second flight Mrs. D. Majolet fired a torrid 87-28-59 to nab the top honors in that division. Mrs. E. Ray and Mrs. V. Boerio tied for second place with net 65's.

In the third flight Mrs. E. Stranger carded a net 64 to get the top spot. Mrs. A. Serini's net 66 was good for second place honors.

CSM Tests Chabot College Gridders

Defense-minded Chabot College provides the next test for College of San Mateo's championship-hopeful football team. The Bulldogs, now 2-1 in Golden Gate Conference play after a 14-6 win over City College of San Francisco, trail undefeated Contra Costa and Foothill by one game.

The new San Leandro school crosses the Bay for a 1:30 p.m. game Saturday at San Mateo High School.

Chabot, which led the Golden Gate Conference in defense prior to last weekend, gave undefeated Foothill its worst scare of the year by taking a 14-0 halftime lead in Saturday's San Leandro clash between the two colleges.

However, the Owls capitalized on Chabot's lack of depth, finally wearing down the Gladiators in the third quarter and splurging for 32 second-half points.

Meanwhile, at San Mateo High School, College of San Mateo was likewise building up a 14-0 lead in its Homecoming Game with traditional rival San Francisco. The Rams also came back strong in the second half but had to be satisfied with six digits.

City College threatened with a first down on the Bulldog 20 after its initial score but could do nothing but lose three yards in four attempts, fumbling on two of the downs with prodding from Fred Oppezzo and Mark Moritz.

The Bulldogs, proficient in their specialty of intercepting passes, killed all Ram hopes in the fourth quarter as Charlie Haysbert made two thefts of Craig Schwartz aeriels. Duane Ahern also stole CCSF's first pass of the game, flung by Ben Winslow.

San Mateo, on the other hand, was content to sit on its 14 points, staying on the ground throughout the second half and letting the clock move. In the first half, Rick Norman completed six of his 10 pass attempts for 63 yards, on a 22-yard touchdown flip to Claude McMillen, and added a PAT on a pass to Moritz. Oppezzo grabbed three Norman aeriels.

Veteran fullback McMillen scored the other Bulldog TD also, over right tackle from six yards out at the completion of a 13-play drive.

San Mateo head coach Doug Scovill was happy with the victory. He hasn't lost to San Francisco in his five years at CSM as the Bulldogs have retained the "Tom-Tom" Trophy during that time. The "Tom-Tom" has been awarded to the winning college since 1946 and the overall series dates back to 1936, with CCSF now leading, 14-8. The two teams tied, 14-14, in 1960.

Scovill liked the way veteran tackle Pete Nepote rushed Schwartz in the fourth quarter, causing the two interceptions. Linebackers Ahern and John Scott also stood out on defense.

Fremont before serving a three-year service hitch. He was a member of the 1960 Camp Pendleton All-Star football team. Fisher led Arroyo High to an undefeated season last year with 585 yards on 30 completions in 54 attempts and had 663 yards total offense.

A passing duel is in the offing in Saturday's contest, Chabot's Gerry Fisher and Norman are the conference leaders in this department. Norman has the best completion percentage at 57.1 on 20 completions on 35 attempts for 300 yards and two touchdowns. Fisher leads in yardage with 375 yards on 23 of 44 for the second best percentage at 52.3.

Both quarterbacks are from the Hayward area. Norman starred at Washington High in

SF Giants Add Four Players; Release Pinch Hitter Nieman

The San Francisco Giants has announced the release of outfielder Bob Nieman and the appearance of four new faces on the 40-man roster. The additions are pitchers Robert Bishop, John Pregoner and Albert Stanek and outfielder Jim McLain. With these changes the Giant roster currently stands at 39.

Nieman was purchased last April from the Cleveland Indians. The Giants were the seventh team Nieman had played for since breaking into the major leagues with the St. Louis Browns in 1951. Used mainly as a pinch hitter by the Giants during the 1962 season, Nieman appeared in 30 games with 31 at bats. He hit one home run, got nine hits and had a batting average of .290.

Robert Bishop is a right-handed pitcher who stands 6-3 and weighs 170 pounds. He was born on Aug. 7, 1943, and now resides in Covina, Calif., during the off-season. The 1962 season was his first in organized ball and he was with Lakeland in the Florida State League. The figures he compiled there are more impressive than his 12-12 won-lost record would indicate. He appeared in 26 games and pitched 19 complete games. In 197 innings, he struck out 224 batters and gave up but 145 hits. His ERA of 2.29, as well as his strikeout total, was second best in the league.

John Pregoner is a right-handed pitcher, born Aug. 2, 1935, in Burlington, Wis., and now resides in Antioch, Ill., where he is a school teacher in the off season. He is 6-3, 220 pounds, and played with Springfield in the Eastern League in 1962. In 31 appearances, including 25 starts, he pitched 19 complete games, four shut-outs and had a 14-9 record. He allowed 189 hits in 195 innings, fanned 152 and had an ERA of 2.86.

Albert Stanek was signed by the Giants on June 28 of this year and spent the season with Springfield of the Eastern League where he saw limited duty. Stanek, a lefthander, had a 3-3 record in 12 games, including one shutout in his 11 starts. He was born Dec. 24, 1943, in Chicopee, Mass., is 6 feet tall, weighs 190.

James McLain is a 5-11, 180-pound outfielder who bats and throws righthanded. He spent the majority of the 1962 season in the service and as a result appeared in only 11 games with Tacoma in the Pacific Coast League. He was with Pocatello in the Pioneer League most of 1961 before finishing out the year with Eugene in the Northwest League. With Pocatello in 1961, he hit .322 in 96 games, with 123 hits in 382 times at bat. He hit 19 home runs, 13 triples and 20 doubles, drove in 74 runs and scored 80. He was born in Durham, N. C., on July 1, 1938.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Saturday night is social time at the Bowl as the "Halloween Hi-Jinks" takes over. With bowling scheduled for 7 o'clock and dancing at 9, it is expected that over 200 bowlers will be on hand. A buffet will be served at 11 o'clock. Advance reservations may be made by calling PL 6-5777.

Larry Harris and Flo Hartje were the week's leaders in the 99ers League, as Flo shot a 178 game and 471 series, while Larry posted a big 287 game enroute to a 652 series.

Ted Miske, a 164-average bowler, set the pace in the Minor League as he rolled a 269 game then barely missed the 600 mark as he shot a big 597 series.

The 915 All-Star League again produced more than its share of high rollers as Don Broll led the seven bowlers who bettered the 600 series mark.

Tom McCue was no sleeper as he rolled a 217 game and 616 series to lead the Sleepers' Handicap.

Setting the pace in the Westlake Knolls League was Howard Nelson, who registered a 225 game and 559 series to lead the way.

High striker in the Mayfair Strike League was Charles Vazko with a 211 game and 597 series, missing membership in the "600 Club" by only three pins.

In the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives League, Peg Brown led the ladies with 183 and 508, while Eldon Henshaw was the leading man on 197 game and 536 series.

Mary Holman converted the "Big 4" split (4-7-6-10) to earn herself a shoulder patch. Anne Falconi rolled high game with a 201 and Millie Belli had high series with a 479. Mildred Garrett picked up the 5-7 split and Alberta Diebel picked up the 6-7. Rose Oster managed the 4-5-7.

Marie Guaraglia took high games and series as she rolled a 165-441. Mary Walsh picked up the 5-10 split and Bernice Paulson picked up the 4-7-10. Nice shooting!

Cahill Judoists Pace NorCal All-Star Victory

Two North County Judoists gave strong performances as Northern California's All-Star team scored a lop-sided 93-60 win over their Southern California counterparts at Los Angeles City College over the weekend.

Fred Cahill of San Bruno registered a win by throwing his opponent within the opening minute of his match.

His nephew, Willy Cahill, of South San Francisco, staged a spectacular near-throw—his foe landing out-of-bounds—but was countered when attempting a similar toss a moment later and went down in defeat.

The match pitted 25 of Northern California's top men against an equal number from the south. Both Cahills head the Cahill Judo Academies of South San Francisco and San Mateo.

The Cahill School begins the regular season with a match at Palo Alto this weekend.

LSEA Opposes L. Francis Amendment

The Louis Francis Amendment (Proposition 24) is very strongly opposed by the Laguna Salada Education Association. The executive board of the association urges a "No" vote on Proposition 24.

An official vote against the Louis Francis Amendment was taken by the general membership at a May 1 meeting held at the Pacific Manor School.

"The Laguna Salada Education Association has and will always support reasonable and effective legislation needed to prevent advocates of communism from teaching in the public schools," President R. Finken declared. "However, it also believes that any legislation to protect schools from communist infiltration must do so without infringing on freedoms that are the ultimate values of democratic living. This proposal merely places 'guilt by association' into our Constitution," Finken concluded.

Savings From Lower Interest On State Bonds

The lower net interest costs in the marketing of California bonds, State Treasurer Bert A. Betts reported this week, can be translated into savings for various segments of the San Mateo County economy.

Betts pointed out that his efforts to bring new investors into the state's major bond sales really began paying off in August of 1961, when competitive bidding was revived after several years of single bids.

Interest costs have dropped substantially, at estimated savings of some 25 million dollars, and the winning bid at every sale held this year has been below the National Bond Buyers Index. Previously, California had been paying 30 or more points above the index.

The effect of this development in San Mateo County can be gauged three ways, Betts declared:

1—More than 9,600 Cal-Vet loans have been made in San Mateo County, at an investment of more than 105 million dollars in the veterans' home-building market. Recent sales of the bonds to finance these loans have brought such favorable rates that the interest rate being paid by the veterans is being cut from 4 to 3 3/4 per cent, effective November 1. This will be an added benefit for the more than 7,100 San Mateo County veterans whose Cal-Vet contracts are still in force.

2—Twenty or more San Mateo County school districts have received State School Building Aid, and recent sales of the bonds to finance these state loans have been at substantially reduced interest costs, again because of Betts' success in restoring competition to the bidding for such bonds.

3—There are three Small Craft Harbor projects in various stages of planning or construction in San Mateo County. Record competitive bidding on the latest sale of Harbor Bonds brought the lowest interest rate in over four years, with corresponding less interest cost to the financing of such harbor projects. (The San Mateo County projects are at Redwood City, Belmont and South San Francisco—the latter two in the planning stage).

FUEL CONSUMPTION

Motor-fuel consumption is expected to exceed 67 billion gallons for the United States in 1962, reports the National Automobile Club.

Young Daly Citian Named Bank Of America Manager

A promotion to manager of a new branch of Bank of America in Redwood City for Lawrence E. Warner of 508 Niantic, Daly City, was announced this week by President S. Clark Beise.

Warner has been secretary of the northern California loan committee at the San Francisco head office of the bank for the past two years. In his new position, he will head the Plaza Center branch, which is scheduled to open in Redwood City in November.

He joined the bank in 1954 in Santa Cruz after attending colleges in Los Angeles and Santa Cruz. Selected two years later for special, accelerated training, he served at branches in Los Gatos, Sunnyvale and San Carlos, leading, in 1958, to a junior officer appointment as head of the note department in St. Helena.

Promoted again the following year to assistant cashier, he moved to Vallejo's main office to take up lending duties. His tour of duty at the head office began in 1950.

With three children of his own, Warner was voted "Key Man" by the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce in July for his youth activities.

He was in charge this year of the junior chamber's "Fishing for Youth" outdoor program for underprivileged youngsters and 1961 chairman for "Operation Shopping," which helped needy children buy Christmas gifts for their families.

He also headed the chamber's merit award drive providing funds for outstanding boys and girls at the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition to buy animals for next year's show. At Calvary Baptist Church in Daly City, he was president of the Young People's Sunday Evening Club.

He and his wife, Joyce, with their two sons and daughter,

Insurance Committee Urges Younger Vote

G. Cameron Hurst of San Mateo, chairman of the Life Insurance Committee for Younger, this week urged re-election of Congressman J. Arthur Younger.

The committee, composed of leading life insurance people throughout San Mateo County, urges voters to support Congressman Younger, whose record, Hurst pointed out, "has included ten years of outstanding service to San Mateo County."

Hurst referred to Younger's valuable experience and seniority in congress as a "tremendous asset to citizens of San Mateo County."

"His stand for the preservation of the dollar, insures that the savings accounts and the life insurance values of our citizens will be maintained."

Aubrey F. Lee of Burlingame will be secretary for the committee, Hurst said.

Younger Lauded At B'nai Israel Meet October 23

Congressman J. Arthur Younger should be returned to office by an overwhelming vote of Democrats and Republicans because of his outstanding service to the citizens of Daly City and San Mateo County, George A. McQueen, representing Younger, told members of the congregation B'nai Israel of Daly City at a candidate's night on Tuesday, October 21, at the temple, 63 Los Banos avenue.

"In these perilous times, it is vital to the welfare of our nation that we have on the job an experienced, sound, responsible congressman whose judgment has been tested over the past ten years and found always to be in the best interests of our nation, our state and our county," McQueen declared.

McQueen listed achievements spearheaded by Congressman Younger, including the award last week of $136,000 in federal funds to be used in matching money to build Daly City's $436,000 addition to the North County sewer district, headed by Francis Pacelli and Joseph Verducci, Daly City councilmen.

top of the hill

By ARTEMUS BIERCE

With all of the world tensions pressing down on us the past week, we decided to engage in a pleasure which might relieve the somber atmosphere to some extent.

So Friday we gave Bob Wuerth of Golden Gate Fields a call and got a ducat to the "Sport of Kings" which is now prevailing at Bay Meadows in San Mateo after closing their successful meet at the Fields yesterday.

Bright and early Saturday morning, armed with several copy pencils, our binoculars, a crystal ball and a olja board, we set off to the East in search of fortune.

When we arrived, there were all of these strange fellows standing around outside the gate. "Psst buddy, you want the sure winners?" A little fellow, who looked like a lower-class gremlin, asked us.

"For a finsky I'll put you in fat city," the odd little character panted at us before we had a chance to answer. "This Colonel Snodgrass from the Bluegrass Daily Double tip sheet is the best on the market," he commented.

We were willing to pay five dollars for his gremlin costume—it would have been a smash at a Halloween Party we attended last night—but the fellow grew indignant when we made the suggestion.

Once inside the gates we looked on in awe. Out on the field there were some little fellows with brightly glowing clothes atop some handsome horses—they also would have been smashes at our Halloween party. In the middle of the track stood a large board which was brightly blinking numbers and odds. This, we learned from the intelligencia of the racing world was the totalizer board—known more affectionately as the tote board.

After sizing up the situation, we grabbed our coin purse from our well-protected money belt and purchased a program and Racing Form—the latter which looks like The Wall Street Journal and carries more information than the World Almanac of Track and Field.

After much scrutiny we decided that we had the cinch winner. According to the form, the consensus and past performance, this horse was headed for The Winner Circle (sounds like a plug for some sport buff's column). So we sauntered up to the two-dollar window and carefully extracted two worn dollar bills from the money girdle around our waist.

All of a sudden we had a premonition and decided to check the sheet once more. "What horse do you want," coldly asked the gentleman behind the teller's cage.

"Just a minute Jack," we replied, "got to check over the sheet some more." At this time some big gent from behind us extracted us and threw us into the fifty dollar line—which we soon departed from intact.

We finally approached the right window and gave the number of the horse, and a yellow ducat was launched from a missile base, catching us squarely on the nose. Still reeling from the blow, we staggered out of the clubhouse area. As we were departing a uniformed lady reached for our right hand.

"Ah, we had heard about the promiscuous characters at race tracks, but we didn't think that they were this brazen," we said to ourselves.

Much to our disappointment, the lady just stamped us with a rubber stamp. "Must be a dance after the races," we thought aloud.

Coming back to the clubhouse we were again taken by the hand, which was shoved under hair dryer or something like that.

Low and behold, on our hand appeared the most beautiful glowing purple orchid horseshoe that we have ever seen. It was fantastic and it all belonged to us. After several minutes of staring at the miracle, the uniformed lady and the people behind us began to get very impatient.

Picking ourselves up from the cement, we ran through the gate once again. And then out again, and then in again. When we finally finished admiring the marvel, which surely must have been the eighth wonder of the world, it was the eighth race.

After much calculation we came up with a horse named —. The thoroughbred romped in and returned a — for our brave wager. When the race was concluded we stood in line and collected our treasures, all the time protecting our right hand with the real treasure on it.

Once the cash was entrenched in our money belt we bolted from the track, pausing only briefly to admire our resplendent horseshoe. "The people back home will never believe this," we said to the uniformed lady who was looking at us rather strangely.

And as we fled out the front entrance, we knew that we would be back. Not only because it was a place to relieve our tensions and money, but because our little purple horseshoe wouldn't last forever—and we couldn't wait to see it again.

New Mission PTA Law Classes Held
